BROTHER AND SISTER MEET IN FRANCE; ARE BOTH SERVING U. S.

Miss Ada And James Graham Get Leave And Visit Paris Together

Few brothers and sisters have met in France, but among those who have are two Knox county people, Miss Ada Graham, who is an American Red Cross nurse in Paris, and Private James Graham of E Battery, 37th Division.

In a letter to their father, J. B. Graham, Miss Graham tells of obtaining a leave of absence for a few hours to see her brother, who, at the time, was stationed at a camp near the French capital.

After seeing her brother at the camp, Miss Graham secured a short leave for him and the two returned to Paris where they had a visit under the extremely unusual circumstances which the present war has offered.

E Battery, the Knox county unit of the 37th Division, it will be recalled, is probably engaged now in fighting the Hun, possibly before the great German stronghold of Metz, Germany.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS ARE FEATURE OF CO. FAIR

County As Well As The City Schools Are Well Represented

One of the features of the Knox county fair this year is the school exhibit in the educational building. The exhibit contains many pieces of work from both the county and city schools which are of great interest not only to those who are connected with the schools, but to those who are not connected with the schools. It will pay all county fair visitors to see the exhibit and view examples of the work being done in the schools now.

KNOX COUNTY FAIR STARTS OFF IN GREAT STYLE; HORSE RACES PROVE EXCITING; WAR SPIRIT PREVALENT

First Race Takes Five Full Heats To Decide Victor

MILFORD AND CLINTON HAVE GOOD DISPLAYS

Farm And Garden Products Unusually Good; Many Attractions

Despite the reticence of the weather man in failing to offer a warm, sunshiny day for the first day of the Knox county fair, the hundreds of people in attendance at the attractions at Lake Hiawatha park on Wednesday were almost unanimous in asserting it to be the best "first day" of a Knox county fair in many years. Even the slightest rainfall late in the afternoon failed to dampen the ardor of those present or quail the spirit of the county's annual carnival.

RACES ARE FINE

The horse races, the main attraction the first day, exceeded the highest expectations of those most interested. All were run off without a "hitch" to the delight of the fans present.

There was a contest in every race and the 2:30 trot was in doubt to the end, it taking the full five heats to decide which horse was supreme. The remaining two races, although won in three straight heats, were hotly contested and created not a little enthusiasm among the devotees of the sport.

In the first race, On Great started out well, winning the first heat, but in the following one, Henry Clay, who had run poorly previously, came out ahead and then repeated the performance in the third. Realizing that he must win the fourth and fifth heats or lose the race, the driver of On Great played his "pony" for all she was worth, capturing the last two heats and winning the first money.

Ester McKinney, owned by George McKinney of Charles Taylorsville, Ill., won the second event in three straight heats in pretty fashion, although she was hard pushed all the way by Directum R., owned by P. D. Welsh of Richmond, and Limber Jim, owned by J. W. Hawk of this city.

Two Knox county horses "placed" in the last race of the afternoon, O. E. S., owned by Bert Smoots of Centerville, getting third money, while Lady Davidson, owned by Pitt Struble of Fredericktown, came in fourth.

WAR SPIRIT FELT

While "going the rounds" at the fair grounds, one never loses sight of the fact that the United States is in a great war, the whole atmosphere itself seems pervaded with it. To begin with, many of the prizes are to be war savings stamps; again, the sight that meets one's eyes on entering the display shed for Clinton grange, is their service flag with 12 stars in it. In the old dance hall, where there are many exhibits of interest to women, one may see many pictures relative to what is going on "over there" at the present time, such as soldiers going "over the top," a Yankee in the act of throwing a hand grenade, etc., while one of the most artistic of the exhibits is a huge quilt representing Old Glory. This latter entry created not a little curiosity and many were the questions asked as to who had created this work of art.

GRANGES EXHIBIT

Milford grange, No. 1491 and Clinton grange, No. 387, offer a magnificent exhibit in the way of garden crops, farm produce, canned goods, etc., and vie with one another for the better entries. Each has a banner at the end of its exhibit space, denoting the name and number of the grange and both are justly proud of the whole of their entries.

In the same shed with the two grange exhibits, there is given space for the Knox county farm bureau where bumper specimens of corn and beans are on display, together with information of interest to the farmer.

LIVESTOCK GOOD

Although the sheep entry is not as large as usual, those entered are of an extremely high class and appear to be exceptionally well cared for. The pigs entered this year are extraordinarily good and there is some discussion as to which "porker" will turn out the prize winner.

Last, but not least, in fact one of the first sounds that greets a fair-goer's ears when he enters the grounds, is the sound emitted from the poultry shed. The cock-a-doodle-doo, cluck-cluck, peep-peep, and finally the scratch, scratch, scratch of all, is unceasing and some mighty fine roosters and hens as well as little chicks, look out from their boarded-up pens at the many strange eyes present.

Many local merchants have exhibited at the fair while a large number of farm implements, trucks, and automobiles are on display. The usual number of "attractions" are there and, in fact, everything that goes to make up a "real, honest-to-gosh" county fair.

Thursday was Patriotic and Automobile Day, while Friday will be devoted to Public Sale Day. The races for both Thursday and Friday promise much and it is expected that enormous crowds will be in attendance.
